A New KIND Program for Today’s Youth

By Charles F. Herrmann, HSUS Director of Humane Education

We Need Your Help

I am more and more convinced that any investment we have in achieving a humane nation is dependent on our children and youth. To take maximum advantage of this opportunity, HSUS has put a top priority on educational programs for young people. One of the most important programs we are conducting is KIND, for children 6 through 18. I urge you to read the latest developments in KIND on these pages. I know you will want to help ensure the continuation and expansion of this program by sending a personal contribution in the attached envelope. Please let us know that you share our belief in the young people of this nation.

Misty Saved by Roadworkers

Misty is a one-year-old Maine Coon cat. She was playing in the busy highway. She was badly burned and couldn't move. These men who stopped traffic to save her: First, the police, then the driver of a truck that was passing. Then another driver got busy. The men followed him to Misty's home. Misty's owner called her to earth. She had a crushed tail and a broken leg.

Camels Get New Home

Two-humped camels are called bactrians. Single-humped camels are called dromedaries. Both can carry heavy loads and are found in the Silk Road. The camel is the most commercially utilized large land mammal in the world. The State of Minnesota is building a new zoo. They want these camels in their collection. The National Zoo has a breeding farm in Virginia. They have six bactrians and they really need help!
