nounced that same day that they were adopting the same policy (see the Summer 1990 HSUS News). Tuna sold under this policy bears a "Dolphin Safe" label. Since then, StarKist and Chicken of the Sea have published their policies in writing and confirmed that their actions were immediate. Although Bumble Bee has also published a policy, it has stated in writing that it will honor its contractual commitments to purchase tuna that may not have been produced through "Dolphin Safe" methods. Such commitments are expected to continue in the future.

MARCHING FOR ANIMALS

The March for the Animals swept up Constitution Avenue to the Capitol steps on June 10. More than 24,000 people attended, representing all fifty states and carrying state banners provided by the organizers, the National Alliance for Animal Legislation. The HSUS, supporting the event, set up an information booth with other animal-protection organizations at the Capitol, addressing the need for reverence for all life forms on Earth.

March's starting point near the White House. The HSUS's Dr. Michael W. Fox spoke to the marchers from the steps of the building. Dr. Michael Fox spoke to those assembled for the March for the Animals about the need for reverence for all life forms on Earth.

Reflect for a moment... how can I help animals even when I no longer share their world...?

By your request for animal protection to The Humane Society of the United States. Your will can provide for animals after you’re gone.

NAHEE urges HSUS members to buy only tuna carrying the "Dolphin Safe" label. Until some point after October 1990, this label will appear only on products produced by StarKist and Chicken of the Sea.

The March for the Animals started its journey from the House in the Capitol to the Senate steps on June 10. More than 24,000 people attended, representing all fifty states and carrying state banners provided by the organizers, the National Alliance for Animal Legislation. The HSUS, supporting the event, set up an information booth with other animal-protection organizations at the Capitol, addressing the need for reverence for all life forms on which we share this planet.

We urge HSUS members to buy only tuna carrying the "Dolphin Safe" label. Until some point after October 1990, this label will appear only on products produced by StarKist and Chicken of the Sea.

The March for the Animals swept up Constitution Avenue to the Capitol steps on June 10. More than 24,000 people attended, representing all fifty states and carrying state banners provided by the organizers, the National Alliance for Animal Legislation. The HSUS, supporting the event, set up an information booth with other animal-protection organizations at the Capitol, addressing the need for reverence for all life forms on which we share this planet.